Have Not Courage of Convictions.

The second man also was a murderer. His name was Pilate. You ask, Pilate almost persuaded. Yes, be was almost persuaded. Pilate said: Art Thos the Som of God. Jesus bowed fils head and said: I am! Pilate then was almost persuaded, but at that point came the message from his wife that this man Jesus was a good man, and Unit-Bilate should have nought to do with Hint.

Then he does the thing that loses him his soul. He said: Take ye Him and crucify Him. I find no fault in Him, and I wash my hands of the matter. There was one thing that lost him his soul, and that one thing was that he did not have the courage of his convictions.

was that he did not have the courage of his convictions.

"There are men here to-night who know that Christ is he Son of God. They are convinced that their mother's religion is the best in the world—the only religion. Their only reason for rejecting Christ is that they have not the courage of their convictions. They say their friends would lamph at them. Ah, there's they says, wrong. Their riends would tell them that they had taken the best step they had ever made. I know. One business man here in Richmond held off a long time for the

NASHVILLE, TENN., January 22.—
The third day of the Cooper-Sharpe murder trial passed not only without scentring another juror, but if the motion of the State be sustained, one of the six already chosen will be eliminated because he was intoxicated when he reported for service and was chosen. The State claims it secured knowledge of Juror Leigh's condition after it had accepted him, and Judge Hart set to-morrow at 9 A. M. to pass upon the motion.

The summoning of 500 additional talesmen began late this afternoon, to appear Monday, when the effort will be made to complete the jury which will try the alleged slayers of exsension carmaek.

Judge Hart announced to-night that no sessions of the trial would be held on Saturday. He believes that the case can be completed more rapidly by giving the attorneys one day in six in which to consult.
